

Bay Technical subsidiary involved in EPA action

BY D.C. HARVILL

A now defunct subsidiary of Bay Technical Associates is the subject of an enforcement action being taken by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Tectonics Services Incorporated, a manufacturer of computer components, was found to be in violation of the federal Clean Water Act, according to a spokesman for EPA's Sixth District office in Dallas.

"We shut down the plant immediately. I didn't want to be closely involved in anything with an EPA violation," Bay Tech President Chuck Ramsey said.

"From 1987 until April this year, the company was discharging wastewater into Bayou Bonfouca in Slidell without treatment," EPA spokesman Phillip Charles said.

According to Charles, the discharge consisted of water containing the heavy metals chromium, copper and nickel from electro-plating and printed circuit board rinsing operations at the plant.

Bay Tech, a computer peripheral development and assembly company, is based in the old Jitney-Jungle building on Second Street in Bay St. Louis.

In April, Charles said, EPA issued an order telling the company to apply for a permit or to cease the discharge.

Under the permit, the company would have had to treat the discharge bringing it up to Clean Water Act standards.

"The company chose to close down the operation, rather than apply for a permit. They said treatment would be too expensive," Charles said.

Tectonic had been in operation for 15 years but had been purchased by Bay Tech approximately a year and a-half ago, according to Ramsey.

"Until we found out about the violation from EPA, we thought Tectonic was in compliance, that they had a hazardous waste permit," Ramsey said.

"I don't know how the water could have contained chromium and nickel—we didn't use anything that contained them," Ramsey stated.

Ramsey said the cost of treatment would be in the neighborhood of $250,000 based on estimates he had received.

To his knowledge, EPA had never been at the Tectonic site and he did not know how the action originated, Ramsey said.

According to Charles, the action originated with Tectonic when, in a questionnaire the agency sent to companies around the country, it reported that it was discharging illegally.

Because of stiff criminal penalties for not reporting or for falsifying reports of violations, many EPA actions are the result of self-reporting, Charles said.

According to Charles, EPA is about to fine Bay Tech for a Class One violation that could carry a fine up to $25,000.

A representative of Bay Tech has asked to discuss the matter further. EPA is willing to discuss any further information to help reassess the violation, Charles said.

If a fine is assessed, Ramsey said the firm will "take our lumps and go".

According to Ramsey, Bay Tech purchased Tectonic to supply one component for their Bay St. Louis assembly operation.

"We buy components from around the country, we'll continue buying that part from some other company," Ramsey said.

Before the action he had considered relocating Tectonic to Bay St. Louis because there is a need for a circuit board manufacturer in the state, Ramsey said.

"We dismantled the operation and removed all the equipment within a week. It won't be polluting anything again," Ramsey said.

Boys 9, 12 questioned in Clermont vandalism

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County authorities have apparently ended a rash of break-ins and vandalism in Clermont Harbor by finding two children who caused the damage.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay said a woman who lived in the house next to one of the vandalized residences had supplied authorities with the identity of one of the juveniles, saying she saw the boy in the yard at the same time she heard "racket like somebody was trying to tear down the house."

The two boys involved are nine and 12 years old. They were picked up by Deputies Dennis Tartavouille and Matt Karl and were interviewed Monday and again Tuesday morning at the sheriff's department, Seay stated.

The boys were then turned over to the Hancock County Youth Court.

Seay added that the boys' parents were present for both interviews and are cooperating with the investigation.

"Usually they say 'Not my kid.' These people are very much appreciated by this department for their full cooperation in this matter," the investigator stated.

He added that both of the boys seemed well-mannered and have never been in any trouble.

"I understand these two are doing well in school. The parents said it was out of character for these kids. They were shocked," Seay stated.

"It was something kids do. Kids don't think sometimes," he added.

The two boys are believed responsible for extensive damage.

Gator bites bullet in Waveland Tuesday

BY D.C. HARVILL

Curiosity-seekers gathered to look at an alligator approximately seven-feet long that made the mistake of wandering into a ditch along Nicholson Avenue Tuesday. The mistake cost the alligator its life.

The alligator died from a shotgun blast to the head delivered by a trapper operating under authorization of the Mississippi Department of Conservation.

Destruction of the alligator is part of a pilot program instated earlier this year, designed to save conservation officers the time and effort required to relocate "nuisance gators."

A nuisance alligator primarily is one that occurs in a residential area and presents a threat to human life. DOC biologist Jim Lite said when the program began.

The special agents receive no pay from the DOC, but are allowed to sell the hides and meat. The state receives $25 per alligator.

"Our officers were out half the night catching alligators and would have to do shrimping enforcement work, too. We had to give them some relief," Lite said.

According to one recent report, the agents currently are getting $39 per foot for alligator hides.

After a brush with extinction in the late sixties, under strict protection, the American alligator (Alligator mississippiensis) has rebounded to the extent that it no longer is considered endangered in Mississippi.

The reptiles, however, are still protected by federal law. Anyone killing or harassing an alligator could be fined up to $1,000 and sentenced to one year in jail.

According to DOC Officer Hank Boudreaux, the state has been issued permits for the collection of 100 alligators.

The DOC officer at the scene in Waveland Tuesday, William Collins, stating that the dead animal was state property, would not allow photographs of the trappers killing the alligator or loading it into their station wagon.

"Officer Collins made the decision that that alligator (in Waveland Tuesday) was potentially dangerous and would be destroyed. The alligators we've allowed the trappers to destroy mostly have been eight feet and up. We've relocated quite a few smaller ones," Boudreaux said.

County farm reduces jail's operating costs

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Dividends are being reaped for the second year at the Hancock County Farm on Highway 43, Kiln.

The 15-acre farm, managed by Capt. B.M. (Slim) Perry, superintendent, works from 10 to 12 Hancock County trustees five days a week.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson estimates some 15 to 20 percent of the food processed at the Criminal Justice Facility comes from the county farm.

The county farm began some three years ago with the clearing and preparation of the land.

The trustees who work at the farm are picked up at the jail at 7 a.m. each morning and are returned at about 3 p.m., Perry said.

"One of the trustees prepares a hot meal on site which is served to those working at the farm. This in itself is a treat because at the jail they would only receive sandwiches at noon," Perry stated.

Tuesday's menu at the farm included meatloaf, bread, green beans, creamed potatoes and Koolaid.

The potatoes and beans along with seasoning was fresh from the garden.

This year's harvest thus far has been 1,400 pounds of red

TIRE THIEF BUSTED

A Bay St. Louis man was apprehended in Waveland Sunday after allegedly carting off a load of tires from a department store.

After a chase, Allan B. Cole, 51, Rt. 5, Box 617A, was arrested in Shoreline Park by Officer Lamar Jones.

Cole had in his possession 10 tires valued at $480 taken from Wal-Mart on U.S. Highway 90, according to Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn.

At 7 a.m., off-duty Officer Gene Moran reported that he had witnessed Cole loading the tires into his pickup from a rack at the rear of the store, Dorn said.

Cole has been charged with grand larceny and placed in Hancock County Jail under a $5,000 bond.

BURGLARY ARREST MADE

A Pass Christian man was arrested by Bay St. Louis Police Sunday for attempted burglary of an abandoned business. Norbert W. Kohnke, 45, 103 Third Ave. Pass Christian was arrested at the old Dante By the Bay building on Beach Boulevard late Sunday afternoon while attempting to remove an air-conditioner casing, according to Investigator Tom Burleson.

Kohnke was reported to the police by an adjacent business, The First Precinct Restaurant and Lounge at 5:15 p.m., Burleson said.

Monday afternoon, police recovered a 26,000 BTU air conditioning unit at 107 Pine Tree St., Bay St. Louis.

The unit, taken from the abandoned building a week to 10 days prior to the arrest, had been received by Kohnke from someone else without the casing, Burleson said.

Kohnke has been charged with burglary and put in Hancock County Jail on a $5,000 bond.

ages to at least seven structure homes and one trailer. The vandalism included damage ranging from food being taken from the refrigerator and thrown on the floor and paint sprayed on television screens to broken furniture and torn screens on porches and windows.

How much damage was done has not been estimated. Seay said there are many weekend and summer residents in Clermont Harbor and some of the vandalism may not yet have been discovered.

Although Tartavouille and Karl were investigating a complaint regarding one of the homes, some of the vandalism sites authorities now know about had not even been reported yet when the boys were interviewed.

Seay said the vandalism is believed to have occurred about two weeks ago and may have taken at least a week to complete.

The two youths had also removed several items from the house and most of them have been recovered.

"They were kid things," Seay said. "They took a boomerang, little stuff, things they could play with."

The parents helped recover most of the items and one stated that when she asked her son where the things he had brought home came from, he had stated that they belonged to the other boy involved in the incident.

Seay said the matter is now out of the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office and the Youth Court must decide how to deal with the boys.

Brother Theophane dead, ending 55 years service to seminary

Special to the Echo
Brother Theophane Clemens Alles, S.V.D. succumbed to a heart attack early Tuesday morning, May 23, 1989 at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis. He was born in Chicago on June 23, 1899, and thus would have been 90 years old in exactly one month.

system could have matched his meticulous efficiency.

Asked last year whether he still walked the grounds with his familiar, furiously brisk pace, he answered saucily: "Oh no! I ride my bicycle now!"

And ride he did—daily until a couple of months ago when he began to miss a day or so. Amazingly, he seemed to sense his limits most of the time, constantly weighing, discerning whether he was up to riding on a given day.

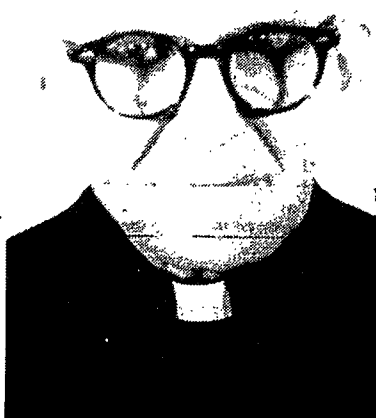

It is incredible to reflect that this leather-tough, gentle brother was forced into complete retirement only within the last half year, and then only by his severely deteriorating health.

Anyone who enters a religious community in 1927 and who works for the kingdom almost down to his last breath as Brother Theophane did certainly has our plaudit and admiration, and he definitely has his reward in heaven.

Brother Theophane is survived by a sister, Mrs. Marion Burr of Chicago; two nieces, Mrs. Denise Slomczewski and Mrs. Dolores Barber; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Rosemary McCall of Chicago.

There will be a wake service Thursday, May 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the main chapel at St. Augustine Seminary. The Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated Friday, May 26 at 11 a.m., followed by burial in the SVD Cemetery.

BROTHER THEOPHANE

A long-time fixture in Bay St. Louis, Brother Theophane was appointed to St. Augustine Seminary in 1934 to inaugurate the Black Brotherhood among the Divine Word Missionaries. He entered the order in Techny, Ill. in 1927, and proved well-suited to this task for many fulfilling years.

Simultaneously, he became the manager of the general office of the seminary, a job to which he clung with bulldog teeth until 1983 when he was eased into semi-retirement. With fancy footwork, he was also porter at the main entrance of St. Augustine Seminary.

Most memorable for scores of high school seminarians of the 1940s were the mad dashes in a careening, open truck to our swimming area near the SVD cottage on the Bay of St. Louis—with Brother Theophane at the wheel!

Thousands of people all around the United States had at least a postal acquaintance with him, as they received requests for support of missionary work and as they sent in their used stamps which he spent untold hours sorting and selling for the missions.

Until a scant year ago, Brother Theophane could be seen with his flashlight each midnight, crisscrossing the grounds and the buildings to make sure that everything was secure for the night. No security

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Those of you who are early risers do not want to forget the Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition at 7:30 a.m. at the Waveland Resort Inn this morning.

Guest speaker will be Helene S. Roth, coordinator of Hancock County's adult literacy program.

We hope to see you there.

Memorial Day weekend is a big holiday across the nation and many things will be happening.

A big event for Waveland will be the annual St. Clare's Seafood Festival which runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The event will be held on the St. Clare's grounds, Beach Boulevard, Waveland.

This will be a good time to get samples of delicious seafoods prepared by guest chefs from along the coast.

Events begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, 12 noon on Saturday and Sunday.

I know I will be at the festival to get some good seafood.

The talk of Bay St. Louis are the lights on the Ulman Avenue pier.

I have had several residents tell me how nice the lights look and several fishermen are tickled about the two large spot lights at the end of the pier.

The two spot lights metered by Mississippi Power Company should really improve fishing results, especially at night.

A benefit spaghetti dinner will be held Saturday for the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Baseball League.

The dinner will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Main Street, from 5 to 8 p.m.

This will be an all-you-can-eat affair for a donation of $3.50.

The menu includes meatballs and spaghetti, coleslaw, garlic bread, and iced tea.

Babe Ruth Baseball gives many of our youth something to do during the summer months.

We hope there will be a large attendance at the benefit dinner.

Tickets are available from coaches and team members and also will be available at the door.

Two-dollar fee a small price for festival fun

Dear Editor,

I am unhappy to hear those few unhappy comments about the $2 entrance fee to our Beachfront Festival.

With all due respect, I as a merchant, feel it necessary to tell about my own version of the $2 fee as I see it.

Bay St. Louis does not stand still. It is progressing through our efforts and our own monies and investments. By encouraging more businesses and real estate investments, this beautiful town continues to grow.

How else are we, as concerned citizens and taxpayers able to earn money to enhance our city even more? The $2 fee is only a fraction of monies needed to help build this community through beautification, better lighting on our streets, more free concerts in the park, highway cleanup, etc. This and more is all paid for by our association.

Always in the past, we have paid for the bands, utilities, advertisement, posters, prizes, liability insurance and police protection.

All the monies made by the Beachfront Festival goes back into the community. The festival expenses come out of the association's own pocket because we want our guests to enjoy the day.

Past festivals have shown that about 25 percent of our festival guests were local people while the rest were from out of town. So why not "earn" some money for our city and for all the projects mentioned above. We all benefit from it.

With all of my years of experience in business in different cities and states, I have yet to see a business association that works together, pulls together and supports its community as does the Bay St. Louis Business Association. It takes money to do all of this. We want our city to be safe and beautiful. Let's wake up! Where else can one go for $2 once a year and see so much done with it?

Let's all get realistic and be proud of what we have. Let's all pull together as citizens of Bay St. Louis and thank the good Lord for what we have.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Women beginning to move up ladder in state legislature

Women represent only six percent of the membership of the Mississippi Legislature, but they're beginning to move up the ladder to some positions of influence in the legislative structure.

Unless some hitch develops, a female will soon become chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, only the second time in history that a woman has headed an important committee in the state Senate.

The Senate Insurance post is slated to go to Sen. Margaret "Wootsie" Tate of Picayune, who is now vice-chairman of the committee. The chairmanship has been vacant since former Sen. Wayne Burkes of Clinton was elected to the State Highway Commission in late March.

Tate says she has a personal commitment from Lt. Gov. Brad Dye to give her the chairmanship, but thus far Dye has not announced the appointment. Behind the scenes, this column has learned, Dye has been lobbied by some segments of the insurance industry not to give the committee chairmanship to Tate.

"Some of the insurance companies think I'm too independent," Tate, a former independent insurance agent, declared. Tate, for instance, was the only member of the Senate Insurance Committee to vote for the compulsory automobile liability insurance bill last session.

On Tate's side is the precedent Dye has set of elevating the vice-chairman of a committee whenever a chairmanship vacancy has occurred in the past. Some have observed that it would put Dye in an obvious position of discriminating against women if he failed to give the insurance chairmanship to Tate.

"Brad told me before the end of the session 'Wootsie you're going to be chairman of insurance' and he said it in front of some other people. I take him at his word," the feisty 55-year-old women lawmaker said.

Tate had been one of seven members of the Senate who had introduced a resolution in the 1988 legislative session aimed at curbing Dye's power over appointment of Senate committees.

The last time a woman headed a committee in the Senate was back in the early 1970s when then-Sen. Berta Lee White of Bailey was appointed chairman of the Senate Public Utilities Committee. She is believed to be the only other woman ever to head a Senate committee.

Tate would make the second of 10 women now in the Mississippi Legislature to chair a committee. On the House side, Rep. Frances Savage of Brandon, chairs the Apportionment and Elections Committee, the first woman committee head in many years in that branch.

With reapportionment of seats in the Legislature upcoming as a mandated issue facing lawmakers in 1991, Savage is expected to occupy one of the key roles in the legislative process the next two years.

In the 1989 session, Savage had successfully steered to passage a bill to move statewide election primaries in 1991 from early August to late September in order to allow time for redistricting of legislative and county supervisor districts.

At 10, there are now more women in the Mississippi legislature than ever before, but fewer percentagewise (six percent vs. nine percent) than most states in the South. Numerically, however, Mississippi now has more women legislators than Alabama (8), Kentucky (6) and Louisiana (4).

"I don't now if we are at a breakthrough point, but we're approaching one," says Savage, who is in her second term in the House. "I think we have a stronger, wider political network in this state. Women are getting more confidence and more respect in the political arena."

One concern women's organizations have, Savage said, is that there are no women holding statewide office in Mississippi and no women on the scene right now being readied for a run for state office.

"Everybody depended so long on (former lieutenant governor) Evelyn Gandy. She was our token, and nobody was being prepared in the wings. I think it will take some years to change that," she said.

Joanne Hawks, of the Sarah Isom Center for Women's Studies at the University of Mississippi, says that Mississippi has had fewer women running for public office than other southern states.

"It's probably because of our rural mentality that we're less amenable to having women in public office," she said, "and our organizations haven't encouraged 'uppity' women to run for office."

Most of the women who were in the Legislature in the past "have been women who would not rock the boat very much. I definitely think that is changing."

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

New Medicare premium imposes burden on many

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says he is urging Congress to seek ways to reduce the new Medicare premium for retirees and older Americans.

Speaking to a group of retired federal employees recently, the senator said action is underway in the Senate on the Medicare premium issue. He said he is sponsoring, with Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.), a bill to delay implementation of the new premium for health care coverage. And, on April 12, the full Senate approved a resolution asking the Senate Finance Committee to review the issue and develop an alternative financing mechanism.

"I surely hope we find a way to reduce the premium," Cochran told the Mississippi Chapters of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees.

"It is imposing a burden on many retired people," he commented.

Cochran, ranking member of the Senate's Aging Subcommittee, told the group that rising health care costs "continue to be a problem for retirees and older citizens."

The senator also pointed out he is sponsoring legislation to help provide a "safety net" for rural hospitals.

The rural hospital bill, introduced by Senate Republican Leader Robert Dole, will entitle hospitals with 100 or fewer beds, and who have at least 70 percent Medicare patients, to three years of extra Medicare funding.

Cochran noted that since 1983, at least 188 rural hospitals have closed nationwide and others are in danger of closing "unless the federal government provides additional support above current Medicare levels."

Miss. Highway Patrol warns of Memorial Day safety checks

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is reminding motorists to renew expired drivers' licenses, inspection stickers or license plates before the Memorial Day holiday begins on May 26.

"Operation Safe Highways," a new program being implemented by the Mississippi Highway Patrol, gets underway during the 78-hour Memorial Day observance and an abundance of state troopers will be on the highways.

"We had such success in removing drunken and drugged drivers from the highways with Operation Saturation details last summer, we are going to be manning sobriety checkpoints again through Operation Safe Highways," Col. David R. Huggins, Highway Patrol chief, said.

"While our main mission will be to remove drunk, drinking or drugged drivers from behind the wheel, an expired driver's license, inspection sticker or license plate is also a violation of the law," Huggins added.

Federal funds will pay the salaries of state troopers who would normally be off-duty to assist other troopers in manning sobriety checkpoints during the three-day holiday. The funds are being provided through the Governor's Highway Safety Program. Operation Safe Highways also has the endorsement of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

Huggins said sobriety checkpoints will be set up in the southern and northern parts of the state but he did not reveal the roadblock sites.

"We will have 50 additional troopers working the roads during this holiday period, 25 in the patrol's northern region, for the purpose of aiding in these local three-day details," said Huggins.

Aircraft will also be used to detect motorists driving in a reckless or drunken manner. "An important fact to remember is that the use of safety belts and child safety seats is known to be one of the best defenses against the drunk or drugged driver," Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway Patrol chief, said.

"Safety belts could prevent 40 to 50 percent of the fatalities and reduce the number of serious injuries from motor vehicle crashes by 45 to 55 percent."

"We would also like to remind motorists that speed is frequently a contributing factor in fatal accidents. Driving the posted speed limit could mean the difference between life and death," Hughes said.

Eleven people were killed in eight fatal crashes during the Memorial Day weekend in 1988. Seven of the eight crashes involved only one vehicle, two of which involved pedestrians.

The three-day Memorial Day observance begins at 6 p.m. on Friday, May 26, and ends at midnight, Monday, May 29.

Buckle Up America! Week encourages safety belts

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is challenging all Mississippians to buckle up their safety belts every time they ride in a motor vehicle during 'Buckle Up America! Week' set for May 22-29 and forever thereafter.

"Safety belts could prevent 40 to 50 percent of the fatalities and reduce the number of serious injuries from motor vehicle crashes by 45 to 55 percent," Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway Patrol chief, said.

"These dramatic figures, which substantiate the benefit of seat belt use, is our reason for supporting 'Buckle Up America! Week.'

"Another important fact to remember is that the use of safety belts and child safety seats are known to be one of the best defenses against the drunk or drugged driver," Hughes said.

The Governor's Highway Safety Program will kick off 'Buckle Up America! Week' with a luncheon on Monday, May 22 at the Denney's Restaurant. Six outstanding leaders and supporters of the seat belt use effort from across the state will be presented awards to encourage everyone to use safety belts in their vehicles, to correctly buckle children into child safety seats and to learn more about the new automatic crash protection systems.

The overall goal of this year's awareness week is to increase the level of safety belt and child safety seat use toward achieving a minimum 70 percent correct use rate by 1990, as well as to expand public awareness of how automatic crash protection, such as air bags and automatic belts, complement existing systems.

On a national basis motor vehicle crashes are also the number one cause of death of children over six months of age.

Local veterans warned of phony dividend offer

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Hancock County veterans should be wary of literature now circulating in the area promising special GI insurance dividends.

Veterans Service officer Sandra Garber has received a number of calls questioning the availability of benefits described in form letters that have been distributed in the county recently.

Information on the bogus dividend is being circulated by brochures and phony applications claiming that Congress has authorized the measure, urging veterans to write the Veterans Administration insurance center in Philadelphia.

"The calls have been flooding the insurance office, preventing legitimate claims from being settled," said Garber.

The VA's legitimate dividends are paid automatically to current policyholders on the anniversary date of their policies.

This year's dividend is expected to top $1 billion, the largest amount in the program's 70-year history, according to AmVets Magazine.

Veterans with questions about policies can phone a VA insurance specialist toll-free, 1-800-422-8079.

Miss. Highway Patrol warns of Memorial Day safety checks

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is reminding motorists to renew expired drivers' licenses, inspection stickers or license plates before the Memorial Day holiday begins on May 26.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Those of you who are early risers do not want to forget the Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition at 7:30 a.m. at the Waveland Resort Inn this morning.

Guest speaker will be Helene S. Roth, coordinator of Hancock County's adult literacy program.

We hope to see you there.

Memorial Day weekend is a big holiday across the nation and many things will be happening.

A big event for Waveland will be the annual St. Clare's Seafood Festival which runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The event will be held on the St. Clare's grounds, Beach Boulevard, Waveland.

This will be a good time to get samples of delicious seafoods prepared by guest chefs from along the coast.

Events begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, 12 noon on Saturday and Sunday.

I know I will be at the festival to get some good seafood.

The talk of Bay St. Louis are the lights on the Ulman Avenue pier.

I have had several residents tell me how nice the lights look and several fishermen are tickled about the two large spot lights at the end of the pier.

The two spot lights metered by Mississippi Power Company should really improve fishing results, especially at night.

A benefit spaghetti dinner will be held Saturday for the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Baseball League.

The dinner will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Main Street, from 5 to 8 p.m.

This will be an all-you-can-eat affair for a donation of $3.50.

The menu includes meatballs and spaghetti, cole-slaw, garlic bread, and iced tea.

Babe Ruth Baseball gives many of our youth something to do during the summer months.

We hope there will be a large attendance at the benefit dinner.

Tickets are available from coaches and team members and also will be available at the door.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Two-dollar fee a small price for festival fun

Dear Editor,

I am unhappy to hear those few unhappy comments about the $2 entrance fee to our Beachfront Festival.

With all due respect, I as a merchant, feel it necessary to tell about my own version of the $2 fee as I see it.

Bay St. Louis does not stand still. It is progressing through our efforts and our own monies and investments. By encouraging more businesses and real estate investments, this beautiful town continues to grow.

How else are we, as concerned citizens and taxpayers able to earn money to enhance our city even more? The $2 fee is only a fraction of monies needed to help build this community through beautification, better lighting on our streets, more free concerts in the park, highway cleanup, etc. This and more is all paid for by our association.

Always in the past, we have paid for the bands, utilities, advertisement, posters, prizes, liability insurance and police protection.

All the monies made by the Beachfront Festival goes back into the community. The festival expenses come out of the association's own pocket because we want our guests to enjoy the day.

Past festivals have shown that about 25 percent of our festival guests were local people while the rest were from out of town. So why not "earn" some money for our city and for all the projects mentioned above. We all benefit from it.

With all of my years of experience in business in different cities and states, I have yet to see a business association that works together, pulls together and supports its community as does the Bay St. Louis Business Association. It takes money to do all of this. We want our city to be safe and beautiful. Let's wake up! Where else can one go for $2 once a year and see so much done with it?

Let's all get realistic and be proud of what we have. Let's all pull together as citizens of Bay St. Louis and thank the good Lord for what we have.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Women beginning to move up ladder in state legislature

Women represent only six percent of the membership of the Mississippi Legislature, but they're beginning to move up the ladder to some positions of influence in the legislative structure.

Unless some hitch develops, a female will soon become chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, only the second time in history that a woman has headed an important committee in the state Senate.

The Senate Insurance post is slated to go to Sen. Margaret "Wootsie" Tate of Picayune, who is now vice-chairman of the committee. The chairmanship has been vacant since former Sen. Wayne Burkes of Clinton was elected to the State Highway Commission in late March.

Tate says she has a personal commitment from Lt. Gov. Brad Dye to give her the chairmanship, but thus far Dye has not announced the appointment. Behind the scenes, this column has learned, Dye has been lobbied by some segments of the insurance industry not to give the committee chairmanship to Tate.

"Some of the insurance companies think I'm too independent," Tate, a former independent insurance agent, declared. Tate, for instance, was the only member of the Senate Insurance Committee to vote for the compulsory automobile liability insurance bill last session.

On Tate's side is the precedent Dye has set of elevating the vice-chairman of a committee whenever a chairmanship vacancy has occurred in the past. Some have observed that it would put Dye in an obvious position of discriminating against women if he failed to give the insurance chairmanship to Tate.

"Brad told me before the end of the session 'Wootsie you're going to be chairman of insurance' and he said it in front of some other people. I take him at his word," the feisty 55-year-old women lawmaker said.

Tate had been one of seven members of the Senate who had introduced a resolution in the 1988 legislative session aimed at curbing Dye's power over appointment of Senate committees.

The last time a woman headed a committee in the Senate was back in the early 1970s when then-Sen. Berta Lee White of Bailey was appointed chairman of the Senate Public Utilities Committee. She is believed to be the only other woman ever to head a Senate committee.

Tate would make the second of 10 women now in the Mississippi Legislature to chair a committee. On the House side, Rep. Frances Savage of Brandon, chairs the Apportionment and Elections Committee, the first woman committee head in many years in that branch.

With reapportionment of seats in the Legislature upcoming as a mandated issue facing lawmakers in 1991, Savage is expected to occupy one of the key roles in the legislative process the next two years.

In the 1989 session, Savage had successfully cleared to passage a bill to move statewide election primaries in 1991 from early August to late September in order to allow time for redistricting of legislative and county supervisor districts.

At 10, there are now more women in the Mississippi legislature than ever before, but fewer percentage-wise (six percent vs. nine percent) than most states in the South. Numerical, however, Mississippi now has more women legislators than Alabama (8), Kentucky (6) and Louisiana (4).

"I don't now if we are at a breakthrough point, but we're approaching one," says Savage, who is in her second term in the House. "I think we have a stronger, wider political network in this state. Women are getting more confidence and more respect in the political arena."

One concern women's organizations have, Savage said, is that there are no women holding statewide office in Mississippi and no women on the scene right now being readied for a run for state office.

"Everybody depended so long on (former lieutenant governor) Evelyn Gandy. She was our token, and nobody was being prepared in the wings. I think it will take some years to change that," she said.

Joanne Hawks, of the Sarah Isom Center for Women's Studies at the University of Mississippi, says that Mississippi has had fewer women running for public office than other southern states.

"It's probably because of our rural mentality that we're less amenable to having women in public office," she said, "and our organizations haven't encouraged 'uppity' women to run for office."

Most of the women who were in the Legislature in the past "have been women who would not rock the boat very much. I definitely think that is changing."

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

New Medicare premium imposes burden on many

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) says he is urging Congress to seek ways to reduce the new Medicare premium for retirees and older Americans.

Speaking to a group of retired federal employees recently, the senator said action is underway in the Senate on the Medicare premium issue. He said he is sponsoring, with Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.), a bill to delay implementation of the new premium for health care coverage. And, on April 12, the full Senate approved a resolution asking the Senate Finance Committee to review the issue and develop an alternative financing mechanism.

"I surely hope we find a way to reduce the premium," Cochran told the Mississippi Chapters of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees.

"It is imposing a burden on many retired people," he commented.

Cochran, ranking member of the Senate's Aging Subcommittee, told the group that rising health care costs "continue to be a problem for retirees and older citizens."

The senator also pointed out he is sponsoring legislation to help provide a "safety net" for rural hospitals.

The rural hospital bill, introduced by Senate Republican Leader Robert Dole, will entitle hospitals with 100 or fewer beds, and who have at least 70 percent Medicare patients, to three years of extra Medicare funding.

Cochran noted that since 1983, at least 188 rural hospitals have closed nationwide and others are in danger of closing "unless the federal government provides additional support above current Medicare levels."

Miss. Highway Patrol warns of Memorial Day safety checks

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is reminding motorists to renew expired drivers' licenses, inspection stickers or license plates before the Memorial Day holiday begins on May 26.

"Operation Safe Highways," a new program being implemented by the Mississippi Highway Patrol, gets underway during the 78-hour Memorial Day observance and an abundance of state troopers will be on the highways.

"We had such success in removing drunken and drugged drivers from the highways with Operation Saturation details last summer, we are going to be manning sobriety checkpoints again through Operation Safe Highways," Col. David R. Huggins, Highway Patrol chief, said.

"While our main mission will be to remove drunk, drinking or drugged drivers from behind the wheel, an expired driver's license, inspection sticker or license plate is also a violation of the law," Huggins added.

Federal funds will pay the salaries of state troopers who would normally be off-duty to assist other troopers in manning sobriety checkpoints during the three-day holiday. The funds are being provided through the Governor's Highway Safety Program. Operation Safe Highways also has the endorsement of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

Huggins said sobriety checkpoints will be set up in the southern and northern parts of the state but he did not reveal the roadblock sites.

"We will have 50 additional troopers working the roads during this holiday period, 25 in the patrol's northern region, for the purpose of aiding in these local three-day details," said Huggins.

Aircraft will also be used to detect motorists driving in a reckless or drunken manner.

"An important fact to remember is that the use of safety belts and child safety seats is known to be one of the best defenses against the drunk or drugged driver," Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway Patrol chief, said.

"Safety belts could prevent 40 to 50 percent of the fatalities and reduce the number of serious injuries from motor vehicle crashes by 45 to 55 percent."

"We would also like to remind motorists that speed is frequently a contributing factor in fatal accidents. Driving the posted speed limit could mean the difference between life and death," Hughes said.

Eleven people were killed in eight fatal crashes during the Memorial Day weekend in 1988. Seven of the eight crashes involved only one vehicle, two of which involved pedestrians.

The three-day Memorial Day observance begins at 6 p.m. on Friday, May 26, and ends at midnight, Monday, May 29.

Buckle Up America! Week encourages safety belts

The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol is challenging all Mississippians to buckle up their safety belts every time they ride in a motor vehicle during 'Buckle Up America! Week' set for May 22-29 and forever thereafter.

"Safety belts could prevent 40 to 50 percent of the fatalities and reduce the number of serious injuries from motor vehicle crashes by 45 to 55 percent," Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway Patrol chief, said.

"These dramatic figures, which substantiate the benefit of seat belt use, is our reason for supporting 'Buckle Up America! Week.'

"Another important fact to remember is that the use of safety belts and child safety seats are known to be one of the best defenses against the drunk or drugged driver," Hughes said.

The Governor's Highway Safety Program will kick off 'Buckle Up America! Week' with a luncheon on Monday, May 22 at the Denney's Restaurant. Six outstanding leaders and supporters of the seat belt use effort from across the state will be presented awards to encourage everyone to use safety belts in their vehicles, to correctly buckle children into child safety seats and to learn more about the new automatic crash protection systems.

The overall goal of this year's awareness week is to increase the level of safety belt and child safety seat use toward achieving a minimum 70 percent correct use rate by 1990, as well as to expand public awareness of how automatic crash protection, such as air bags and automatic belts, complement existing systems.

On a national basis motor vehicle crashes are also the number one cause of death of children over six months of age.

Local veterans warned of phony dividend offer

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Hancock County veterans should be wary of literature now circulating in the area promising special GI insurance dividends.

Veterans Service officer Sandra Garber has received a number of calls questioning the availability of benefits described in form letters that have been distributed in the county recently.

Information on the bogus dividend is being circulated by brochures and phony applications claiming that Congress has authorized the measure, urging veterans to write the Veterans Administration insurance center in Philadelphia.

"The calls have been flooding the insurance office, preventing legitimate claims from being settled," said Garber.

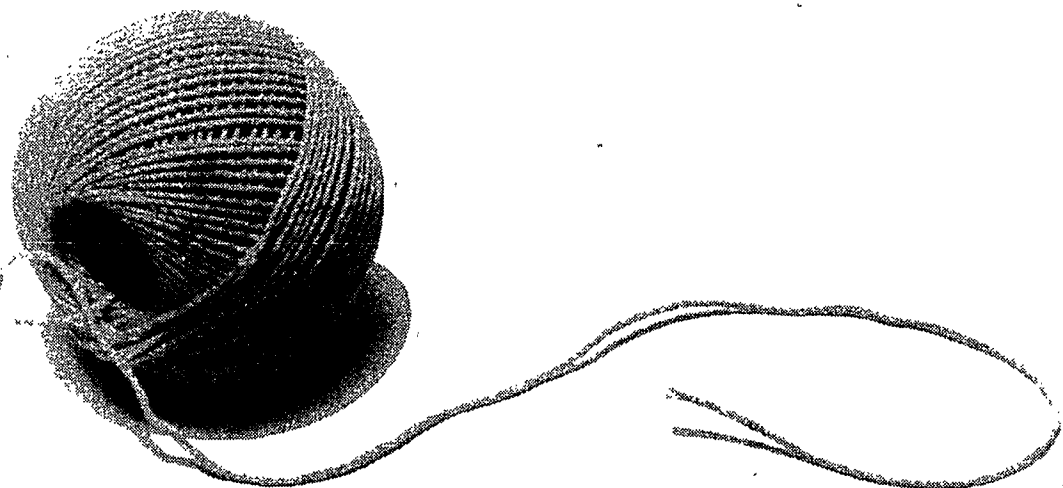

The VA's legitimate dividends are paid automatically to current policyholders on the anniversary date of their policies.

This year's dividend is expected to top $1 billion, the largest amount in the program's 70-year history, according to AmVets Magazine.

Veterans with questions about policies can phone a VA insurance specialist toll-free, 1-800-422-8079.

Jubilarians to be honored at St. Augustine Seminary

Special to the Echo
A sum total of 185 years of priesthood will be the focus of a celebration at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis June 7. The celebration will take place midway through the annual retreat of the Divine Word Missionary Brothers and Fathers.
Silver will be the mark of Father Michael Moody, SVD as he gives thanks to God for ordaining him to the priesthood of service 25 years ago at St. Augustine Seminary.
Golden jubilarians will be Father John Walter Bowman, SVD and Father John W. Dauphine, who were ordained together by the Little Zion Baptist to host musical

Little Zion Baptist Church in Waveland will present a 'Pre-Anniversary Musical' Saturday, May 27 at 8 p.m.
Featured performers will be the Fireside Gospel Singers of Mandeville, La.; the Brumfield Gospel Singers of Picayune; the Gospel Superior Singers of Gulfport; Mr. and Mrs. Payne of Pontchatula, La.; Robert Weaver of Bay St. Louis; Almira Williams of Gulfport and others.

Fresh fried fish will be sold that night.

The Rev. Alex Wesco Jr. is pastor of the church which is located at 510 South Central Avenue.

Most Reverend Richard Gerow at St. Augustine Seminary on Jan. 6, 1939.

Leading the jubilant pack will be Father John Henry Gasper, SVD, who was ordained by the Most Reverend Kampthor at St. Gabriel Seminary in Austria on May 9, 1929. He has progressed from silver to gold to diamond.

FATHER MICHAEL MOODY
Father Michael Moody served in numerous parishes over the past 25 years: pastor at Holy Trinity Church in Washington, La. 1964-65; associate at Notre Dame Church in St. Martinville, La. 1965-71; pastor at St. John's in Waco, Texas 1971-75; associate at St. John's in Broussard, La. 1975; associate at St. Anthony's in Lafayette, La.; pastor at St. Gabriel's in Mound Bayou, Miss. 1983; simultaneously pastor at St. Joseph's in Plaisance, La. and at St. Ann's in Frilot Cove, La.

FATHER JOHN DAUPHINE
Father John Dauphine has had a long, sterling career in God's service: in the Gold Coast Missions (Ghana, Africa) 1939-57; associate at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Lafayette, La. from 1957-61; pastor at St. Benedict's in Dusan, La. from 1961-69; pastor at Joseph's in Broussard, La. from 1969-78; associate at Notre Dame Church in St. Martinville, La. from 1978-84; in semi-retirement as associate at St. Edward's in New Iberia, La. since 1984.

FATHER JOHN BOWMAN
Father John Bowman has likewise had a long, illustrious career in God's kingdom: assigned to St. Benedict's in Dusan, La. and Immaculate Heart of Mary in Lafayette, La. from 1939-42; commissioned as 1st Lt. Chaplain Corps, U.S. Army, thus becoming the first Afro-American priest of the Catholic faith to serve in the Armed Forces of the United States.

He was a member of the Divine Word Mission Band from 1946-49; founding pastor of St. Gabriel Mission in Mound Bayou, Miss.; pastor of St. Rose de Lima Church in Bay St. Louis from 1961-65; appointed Provincial Superior of the Divine Word Missionaries in the Southern U.S.A. Province in November 1965; pastor of St. Mary Catholic Church in Vicksburg, Miss. until his retirement; retired from active administration in 1982; chaplain in residence at St. John Berchman's Manor for retired senior citizens in New Orleans.

Since 1985, he has been in semi-retirement as associate at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church in Lafayette, La.

FATHER JOHN GASPER
Father John Gasper, too, has had a great variety of distinguished assignments in God's service: to Steyl, Holland and to Techny, Ill. from 1929-30; prefect of students at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis 1930-37; rector of St. Augustine Seminary 1937-43; pastor of St. Joseph Church in Meridian 1943-50; pastor at Sacred Heart Church in Greenville 1950-56.

He was pastor at Holy Ghost Church in Jackson 1958-62; pastor at Christ the King in Jackson 1962-64; rector of St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis 1964-67; associate at Our Lady of the Gulf in Bay St. Louis 1968; associate at St. Clare's in Waveland 1971-75; semi-retired as associate at Our Lady of the Gulf since 1980.

ST. ANN CHURCH

By Virginia Thomas
A thought for meditation from our pastor, Father Justin Furman, ST.

My life is but a weaving between my Lord and me. Oftentimes He weaveth sorrow, and I in foolish pride, forget He sees the upper and I the underside.

Not 'til the loom is silent and the shuttles cease to fly Shall God unroll the canvas and reveal the reasons why.

The dark threads may be needful in the skillful weaver's hand. As the thread of gold and silver in the pattern He has planned.

Karen Williams, St. Ann-St. John CYO adult advisor, has announced a po-boy sale is planned for Wednesday, June 14. There will be both ham and roast beef sandwiches, dressed, for $3 each and delivered!

Place your order early by calling Karen at 467-9633 or co-chairlady, CYO member Jaime Bordages at 467-1074. A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Saltillo Missions.

Boxes will be placed in the rear of both St. Ann and St. John churches for donations being collected for Saltillo. Badly needed are all sorts of sewing materials such as needles, thread, buttons, ribbons, old jewelry, carnival beads, tooth brushes, etc.

Several members of our parish CYO will journey with the group from this area when they leave the first week in July.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

There are few festivities more popular in the South for special holidays, family reunions or political rallies, or whatever than the barbecue—and you may be sure that the coals will be glowing in barbecue pits large or small all along our coast this upcoming long Memorial Day Weekend!

This holiday is the signal for the start of the barbecue and picnic season in many other parts of the country; but the Coast is blessed with the sort of weather in which we can barbecue outdoors almost all year round. And I even know some hardy souls who barbecue in cold or dreary weather, dashing from the warm, dry house to toss the meat or other meal on the fire, then dashing out to retrieve it! I'm not that hardy, I confess.

Backyard barbecues have a long, long history with various arguments as to its origin or source. Some insist that the world originally referred to the roasting of a whole hog or pig over an girdiron of sorts placed over a hickory wood fire, a method said to have been introduced to America by French hunters and trappers. Hence the world "Barbe a Queue" (from whiskers to tail) from which we derive the "barbecue."

Others insist, equally fervently, that the barbecue derives from the Spanish "Barbacoa," framework of sticks. Still another version credits the Cherokee, Creek and other Indian tribes of the South, who roasted lambs and pigs whole over glowing coals. In turn the Spaniards carried the idea to the southwest, where it was quickly adopted by hungry cowboys on the trail.

At any rate, it was in the 1700's that the barbecue was introduced into North America, so we are told, and soon became popular on Southern plantations as a gracious and convenient way of entertaining large numbers of guests.

Now we call it all "barbecue"—whether grilling or roasting or whatever.

There's a barbecue choice for everyone, whatever your taste and budget, from roasts and steaks to chops and ribs and hamburgers, from chicken to fish and crabs and shrimp, and so on.

Here's a steak recipe which won't break the weekly budget bank, calling for round and shoulder steak, although you may wish to turn to tenderloin or other cuts. Try:

HERB-AND-WINE
GRILLED STEAK

3 lbs. round or shoulder steak, 2 to 2½ inches thick
2 cups dry red wine
1/2 cup salad oil
2 Tbsp. minced onion
1/2 tsp. minced garlic
1/4 to 1/2 tsp. pepper, to your taste

1 Tbsp. salt if desired
Wipe the meat with a dampened paper towel, and place in a large non-metallic bowl or heavy plastic bag. Combine the remaining ingredients, and pour over the meat. Cover the bowl or securely seal the bag.

Refrigerate for 24 hours, turning the meat two or three times to distribute the marinade evenly. When you're ready to grill the meat, drain the marinade, reserving it. Grill the steak over hot charcoal 4 or 5 inches from the heat for about 20 or 30 minutes or until it reaches the degree of "doneness" that suits you, turning and basting with the marinade from time to time.

Slice thinly on the diagonal to serve.

Or, you may prefer:
BARBECUED
BEEF BRISKET

Marinate an 8 to 10-pound beef brisket in a bottle (7 oz.) of prepared Italian salad dressing overnight in the refrigerator. Get your fire ready, and when it's ready, place the brisket to the rear, away from the coals, and cook over a low fire for 4 or 5 hours, turning after the first two hours, and basting with the marinade.

Add more charcoal as needed to maintain an even, low heat. Cut across the grain in thin slices, to serve, (12 to 15 servings).

Imagine a woman sitting down to a healthy breakfast of oatmeal or bran cereal, then taking a calcium supplement. A healthy habit, right?

Many grains are rich in oxalates and phytic acid, chemicals which reduce the absorption of calcium, so less calcium is likely to go to work in the body when one eats grains.

The growing field of pharmacokinetics (the study of what happens to drugs after they enter your body) has led to a greater understanding of how drugs get used—or not used—by the body.

Age, the presence of disease and the presence of other drugs are just some of the factors which affect the flow of medicine into the bloodstream.

However, physicians, pharmacists and nutritionists are learning that food can also play a significant role in the body's absorption of certain medications.

Some common food-drug combinations to watch out for and the possible consequences are listed below.

Antibiotics

A number of common antibiotics such as ampicillin or penicillin are less effective if taken with food; however, a close relative, amoxicillin, is not affected by eating.

Calcium Carbonate Supplements

Generally, calcium carbonate supplements such as Bio-Cal, Calcirol and Caltrate 600 should be taken with meals. However, there are a number of specific foods which should be avoided.

Whole grains, black beans, almonds, brown rice, soybeans and peanuts are rich in oxalates and phytic acid, chemicals which can drastically cut absorption of calcium carbonate.

Heart Medications

Patients taking such heart medications as Digoxin (Lanoxin is a common brand name) should avoid excessive amounts of high fiber foods because they actually latch on to the drug and decrease the amount absorbed into the bloodstream.

Thyroid Medications

Those who are taking thyroid or anti-thyroid medications should avoid foods such as Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, soybeans and turnip greens if they are not well cooked. These raw vegetables contain thiocyanate, a compound that may produce goiter. Thiocyanate is removed with cooking.

Tetracycline

Patients taking tetracycline should avoid all dairy products within one to two hours of taking the medication. When the drug is taken with milk, calcium in the milk and tetracycline bind together and are eliminated from the body.

Tetracycline also has a close relative, doxycycline (Vibramycin) which can be taken with food, including dairy products. Acidic foods such as tomatoes, citrus foods, pickles and vinegar may reduce the effect of some antibiotics but increase the effect of others.

Antidepressants

Those on some antidepressant drugs, that contain monoamine oxidase inhibitors (Parnate, Nardil), should not eat foods containing tyramine—chocolate, Chianti or red wine, cheddar cheese, chicken livers, sherry, beer, bananas, avocados and soy sauce.

The interaction of these foods with the antidepressant drugs can cause a hypertensive crisis and even result in death in some cases.

Anticoagulants

The effect of oral anticoagulants, such as Coumadin, can be reversed if a patient eats large quantities of green vegetables which are high in vitamin K.

Antihypertensive Drugs

Some antihypertensive drugs such as Apresoline may be better absorbed when taken with food. However, one antihypertensive drug, Eutonil, is a monoamine oxidase (MAO) inhibitor—similar to the antidepressant Parnate—and should not be taken with cheese, chicken liver or chocolate.

There are many variations within families of drugs, so in any case, a patient who has any questions about diet restrictions or food and drug relationships should consult with his or her physician when a prescription is given, or with one's pharmacist when it is filled.

Foreign Service officer works for world peace

BY DENA BISNETTE
When Richard L. Baltimore III begins preparing for his next assignment, he sometimes has to start as much as a year in advance because he has to learn a new language.

Baltimore is an employee of the U.S. Foreign Service. Like other employees in that department, he occasionally goes on short speaking tours; during his most recent, he addressed groups including the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and John C. Stennis Space Center employees.

He finds that most people are unaware of exactly what his department, a small one with about 4,000 employees worldwide, does. He enjoys explaining how he is helping to work toward world peace through open communication.

A love of travel comes in handy for a person who wants to work for the Foreign Service, an arm of the U.S. State Department. Baltimore should know—since the New York City native joined the Foreign Service in August of 1972, he has held various posts at U.S. embassies in Budapest, Hungary; Cairo, Egypt; Pretoria, South Africa; and Lisbon, Portugal, as well as his current assignment, Washington, D.C.

Baltimore is currently director of the Office of Regional Affairs in the Near Eastern and Southeast Asia Bureau, which covers from Morocco to Bangladesh and includes such trouble spots as Iran, Iraq, Israel and Egypt.

"The department is based geographically, with a desk for each country. We also handle things covering more than one country—arms sales, foreign assistance, missile proliferation... We have a very wide and diverse portfolio," he said.

"My assignments so far have been incredible. Something historic has happened during every one of them," Baltimore added. While he was in Portugal, there was a military coup, and he was sent to South Africa in time to be there during the first elections were held there.

He was in Washington when the Shah of Iran was removed as head of that country and the first elections were held there.

and while he was in Hungary, he watched the progress of an attempt to create a multi-party government with a western-style economic system.

Although Baltimore finds enjoyable aspects in all of his assignments, some have more attraction than others. On an assignment in Europe, he and his wife went to Ireland for a holiday and discovered a town called Baltimore there.

When he was stationed in Egypt, Baltimore had an exceptional opportunity to indulge in his favorite hobby, archaeology.

"Cairo was wonderful. Whenever you're in a particular place for a long period of time, you get to see a lot more than what's in the guidebooks," he said, "and you have more time to absorb it."

"You could drive out of the city and turn down these little dirt roads and there would be a pyramid, just out there in the middle of nothing. They weren't like the ones the tourists visit. They were so pristine and they weren't just surrounded by people."

Baltimore's other hobby is traveling. He traveled as often as possible while he was in college, attending McMurren College in Jacksonville, Ill., receiving his bachelor of arts from George Washington University and his juris doctorate from Harvard Law School.

In total, he has visited about 75 countries and all 50 states.

"This is my 50th state," he said on his visit to Mississippi. "I wish I could stay longer and see more of it." With six engagements in two days, Baltimore said he hopes he can return for a longer visit later on.

Baltimore's next assignment will take him back to Hungary, where he will become Deputy Chief of Mission.

"That's basically the number two man at the embassy," he said.

While he enjoys Washington because the city is "brimming with information and things to do," he also likes living overseas. Before leaving, he is prepared to converse current affairs with the average college graduate in his new location by a language institute within the State Department.

"It's all taught by native speakers. The first class I was in we had just two students there, and we had two or three teachers. Most courses are a year but a few are two years. That's why we have to know our assignments so far in advance," he said.

"Nothing but language, eight hours a day for a year, plus homework."

Baltimore has to be well-prepared for conversation because he must talk with a great many people about matters like politics, economy and other current affairs. In addition, the embassies overseas assist Americans who have lost passports, who need to get in touch with their families or want other types of assistance.

He said he feels the "dilettante-ish portrayal of the Foreign Service employee with the cocktail glass in his hand" shown in many movies is unfair and inaccurate; instead, he describes the job as one of a communicator, an educator about Americans and a collector of information.

"In most parts of the world, to get accurate information, you have to research it yourself," Baltimore stated, explaining that "usually people are quite happy to talk to me and happy their views will be going back to the U.S."

Assignments are of fixed duration and he gets to come back to the U.S. about every three years.

Sometimes returning home can provide unexpected amusement. Baltimore receives the New York Times to keep up with with affairs in the U.S., but that does not prepare him for new expressions in conversational language, which he often finds come from television commercials.

In addition, new items come into common use while he is gone.

"I will never forget the first time I saw an electronic scanner being used in a grocery store," he said, "I was fascinated."

Many Americans are not prepared for life abroad. Although health care is available in most of the larger cities, a traveler is "shot up more than a clay pigeon" before he leaves, Baltimore said. Then, upon arrival in a new country, he adjusts to new driving habits and has to learn things such as what cuts of meat he wants to buy because pre-packaged food is not available.

There is also the threat of terrorism, an activity for which Americans are a favorite target. "Aside from revolutions and the poor conditions we may be exposed to, terrorism is something we have to think about in our everyday lives," he commented.

From 1776 to 1965, 73 Foreign Service employees had died in unusual circumstances abroad, and most deaths were from illnesses like tropical fevers. Their names are on a memorial in Washington, but since 1965, 88 have been added to that list, Baltimore said.

"It's a cause for concern, but you have to balance the elements together. It's a wonderful career and something worth pursuing," he added.

Special children's group favors normal environment

BY DENA BISNETTE
Parents and Professionals for Exceptional Children plans to emphasize a normal environment for participants in its programs.
The group will meet again at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Bay Junior High home economics room to continue a discussion on a summer recreation program for special children, according to Linda LaCoste.
LaCoste is one of the founders of the group and serves as its president, assisted by vice president Mary Flores and secretary-treasurer Ann Ladner.
LaCoste said she helped found the group, which has had five meetings so far, because, as a teacher of special children, she saw a need for it. She works with six children at the junior high and has one homebound student right now.
One of the more unique aspects of Parents and Professionals for Exceptional Children, she said, is the good communications that were almost immediately established between the parents and the teachers involved.
They all agree on their goal, providing as normal an environment for special children as possible.
"Often, in groups like this, we find we are both working toward the same thing but we wind up pulling against each other. Fortunately, that isn't happening here," LaCoste said.
"It's not easy to provide a normal environment. We say we want to do it, but sometimes it's easier to do things for them than to make these children do things themselves."
In the long run, Parents and Professionals for Exceptional Children want to mix normal children into the activities the group sponsors. However, they are not yet ready to start doing something that ambitious, LaCoste explained.

"By doing things just for special education children, we're isolating them, and that's not really what we want to do."
"We will accept children from anywhere in Hancock County, but the ones we have now are from the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area."
"We want to educate people about new ideas, new theories and trends in helping these kids. We also want to reach the homebound kids."
The group has about 15 members and recently received help from the St. Stanislaus Key Club, which provided a picnic for special students, she added.
"It was great. Those boys didn't have any inhibitions about going up to these handicapped kids and talking to them or hugging them," LaCoste commented.
In addition, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program wants to help with a planned summer recreation program when arrangements are completed and the Hancock County chapter of Non-commissioned Officers Association has expressed interest. The Bay St. Louis City Council and the Bay-Waveland School District have also expressed their support for the project.
LaCoste said the recreation program will start in mid-June and the Bay Junior High gym will be used in order to enable the participants to take advantage of the summer meal program also being conducted at the school.
The group would like to have the program expand to year-round and to sponsor two or three events during the school year, such as an art fair, a play performance for special children and a field day.
There is one major problem, LaCoste said. The organization has no dues and no funding and is supported entirely by donations. The group is in the process of obtaining a non-profit charter but currently has only about $25.
Right now, LaCoste is contacting local grocery stores and other businesses regarding donations for a second picnic later this summer.

She invites interested people to attend the meeting and can provide more information at 467-7538 after 5 p.m. Details are also available from Ann Ladner at 467-6254 after 5 p.m.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

By Lee Taylor

Several producers have been harvesting rye grass hay. Hopefully this hay was harvested before the seed head all emerged. If rye grass is allowed to go to hay into maturity it loses quality and fiber content will be high.
The same type thinking applies to other forage grasses. Bahia and Bermuda grass hay should be harvested before these grasses become mature. Bermuda grass needs to be cut four times per year if possible.
This cutting every 28-30 days allows the grass to regrow and to be of high quality. Bahia should be cut at least twice per year if possible.
The large round bales have become very popular recently. With labor being hard to come by for haying the large bales are advantageous. They may be left in the field for a period of time and can withstand some bad weather. Round bales should be moved under shelter as they will deteriorate if left out too long.
Pastures and hay fields should be re-fertilized in mid season to replace nutrients such as nitrogen and potash that are taken up in large quantities by grasses.
TOMATOES
We've had several calls here at the office concerning blossom-end-rot. Tomatoes become rotten and cracked at the blossom end due to a lack of calcium. This happens when gardeners don't lime their soils.
However, alternate drying and excessive wetting of the garden soil can also lead to this problem. This lack of calcium can be temporarily corrected by applying calcium chloride at the rate of 4 tablespoons per gallon of water. This solution may be sprayed on the tomatoes' foliage until four applications have been made.

BURGLAR ARRESTED

Because of a report from an alert neighbor, Waveland Police Saturday were able to apprehend a burglar in the act. Michael W. Atkison, 32, 364 Ballentine St., Bay St. Louis, was arrested by Officers David Stepro and Greg Martin at a residence in the 400 block of Nicholson Avenue.

The officers discovered an open window when they arrived at the house, and Atkison was inside, Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said.

Atkison is charged with burglary of a dwelling and is being held in Hancock County Jail on a $5,000 bond.

SENTENCES

Men charged in two burglaries, a fondling incident and a drug sale were sentenced by Judge Jerry O. Terry last week in Hancock County Circuit Court.

The court term ended Friday. Tony Lee Carr, 27, of Alma, Ala., was sentenced to six years in prison after pleading guilty to two counts of selling a controlled substance.

Two other drug charges were dropped in a plea bargaining arrangement.

Jimmy Dale Smith, 34, of Rt. One, Box 119, Picayune, was sentenced to five years, three suspended, after entering a guilty plea on a charge of burglary of an auto.

Bobby Morgan, 22, of Saucier, was given three years' probation when he entered a guilty plea to one county of burglary of a business.

Douglas Lesley Asher, 23, of Lakeshore, received five years, suspended, and three years' probation on a charge of fondling.

Sentenced to 10 years, suspended, and three years' probation on the same charge was Ricky Lamar Partridge of Fenton.

Both pleaded guilty to the charges. The judge also ordered them to undergo treatment at Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

Peterson said, "We killed eight hogs with the meat being used at the jail. The meat of one produced over 400 pounds of

A processing plant made the sausage for the county.

When asked if a trustee ever resented working at the farm, Peterson reported that only two have objected, and that was not used again.

"I would like to emphasize that not all inmates can be used as trustees, we use only those who have committed non-violent types of crimes," Peterson stated.

is reached, all nuisance alligators will be relocated, according to Boudreaux.

As part of their contracts with the state, the licensed trappers also assist with alligator relocation.

So far this year, approximately 20 alligators have been dispatched under the program, three in Hancock County, Boudreaux said.

An alligator reported off Waveland's beach Sunday was captured and relocated, according to DOC Officer Stanley Hamilton.

Seafood to be on menu for Hancock prisoners

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The latest cost-saving operation by the Hancock County Sheriff's office will be the operation of a shrimp boat.

"Hancock County has been awarded a confiscated shrimp boat and motor and we are now in the process of securing a license to shrimp," Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Tuesday.

The boat has been spruced up and a 25-foot trawl was donated to the sheriff's department, so everything is ready as soon as we receive a license, Peterson stated.

Peterson continued, "We have the facilities to keep seafood in our large freezer, we can also freeze fish and crabs which are caught. These products will help cut more food costs for the jail."

Capt. Jim Odom, jail administrator, will be in charge of the shrimping operation.

"We now have several experienced fishermen in jail, and those who can be trustees, we will utilize their talents," Peterson reported.

"As most of you know, fish and crabs are caught while shrimping and we can use the fish to fry and crabs to make stuffed crabs and gumbo as part of our meals for the jail," Peterson commented.

Peterson added, "We will be only shrimping for the needs of the jail."

White potatoes will be harvested in about two weeks. Perry expects to harvest about 1,500 pounds of them.

Crops currently growing include yellow squash, bush beans, white onions, snap beans, purple hull peas, tomatoes, green onions, cucumbers, bell peppers, okra, and a field of corn.

Other crops include watermelons, cantaloupes, pumpkins and hot peppers.

A pond is stocked with catfish fingerlings which should be ready in about eight months, Perry said.

The county farm is faced with the same elements of nature as regular farmers. "We had to replant several items this year, including okra and watermelons, because of excessive rains," Perry added.

"The sentence of a trustee is reduced by his working at the farm and it also teaches them something about agriculture," Perry added.

The jail has a large walk-in freezer and much of the produce items from the farm are stored for later use in the kitchen.

The length of time trustees have worked at the county farm thus far has been from one day to about nine months, Berry said.

Peterson reported he is pleased about the farm's operation and the savings to the county.

The Hancock County Supervisors were instrumental in helping the sheriff's department to get the farm started and are very supportive of the program.

Maintenance of the county farm is included in the sheriff's department budget.

"The supervisors are to be thanked for their assistance, as the program would not be able to function without their continued support," Peterson said.

SECTION B

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

It's time again to be cautious about driving past ballparks at night. The teams are starting to play under the lights again and children may be near the road, particularly at facilities like Bourgeois Field in Waveland where people park across the street from the ballfield.

Also, please be watchful for people on bicycles, not just around the baseball parks and other summer sports facilities, but on the streets in general.

Don't forget the annual Ollie's Red Machine C&C Softball Tournament at Commagere Park Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Registration is still being accepted and the fee is $80 for men's teams and $70 for women's teams.

For more information, contact Otis Brumfield, 452-7836; Robert Whavers Sr., 467-7339; Thomas Favre, 467-6718; or Lonnie Bradley, 467-6770.

Free tennis lessons begin Monday at St. Stanislaus. Classes will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8 a.m.-9 a.m. for beginners and 9 a.m.-10 a.m. for advanced students.

Classes will continue through June and balls will be provided. St. Stanislaus also has racquets for sale, but students must bring their own water bottles.

For more information, call the school at 467-9057 or call Brother Pascal at 466-3419 after 7 p.m.

Congratulations to the young athletes being honored in awards banquets at local schools, and good luck to you in the future!

Pearl River Community College has signed Ronald Doyle Jr. of Hancock North Central as a running back. He's six feet, 190 pounds, and was one of the more memorable Hawk players of the last few seasons.

More summer sports camps have been announced! They include a Pearl River Community College basketball camp for boys in grades 6-12 June 19-23, with registration from 8 a.m. until 9 a.m. the first day.

Fees are $100 for full-time campers and $75 for day camp with insurance included. Call PRCC Basketball Coach Pete Georgian at 795-6801, ext. 375.

University of Southern Mississippi has two baseball camps coming up, June 19-23 for players in grades 7-12 and July 5-7 for grades 3-6.

Fee for overnight campers at the Hattiesburg campus is $160. USM is also offering its first Traditional Karate and Kobudo Camp at Hattiesburg June 15-17. Participants younger than 13 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Full-time fee is $125 and day campers pay $95.

Details on both camps are available from the USM Division of Lifelong Learning at 266-4191.

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs is again providing several sessions of its Project Marine Discovery Sea Camp in conjunction with the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium. The project is more environmental in nature than sports-oriented, but it is important for young people who participate in water sports like fishing to understand the environment.

The first session is for children 6-12 and begins June 12. For more information, call the Marine Education Center in Biloxi at 374-5550 or the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory Ocean Springs office at 872-4200.

Oops! I fumbled in last week's Time Out and gave the wrong price on the horsemanship day camp Auriol Hessemer is offering in Pass Christian. The correct fee is $90 per week. I'm sorry about the error, and if you need more information about the camp, call Hessemer at 466-2923 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Hancock County Red Cross has another lifeguard course coming up at St. Stanislaus May 28-June 6. For details, call Jeanne Garcia, 467-7609 at the Red Cross office Monday, Wednesday or Friday from 9 a.m. to noon, or leave a message on her recorder and she'll get back to you.

One of the nice things about attending sporting events, if you love stuff like sno-cones, hot dogs and popcorn, is the concession stand. Sometimes, however, real food becomes associated with a sport. One of those occasions is coming up on Saturday, when Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Baseball will have a spaghetti dinner from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. It's all you can eat for $3.50 a plate.

Don't forget! The Sea Coast Echo can run sports and sports-related items for you in Time Out. To submit items either bring them by our office by Tuesday, preferably before noon, or call Dena Bisnette at 467-5474. You're also welcome to mail them in, but be sure you send them early enough that they'll arrive here by Tuesday.

Right now, we are particularly interested in obtaining scores and information on local summer sports programs. With several games each week, we know there are some folks out there who can't get to all of them but would enjoy reading about them.

Hancock tops Bay High in spring football contest

Local high school football fans got their annual preview of the 1989 football season Friday as Hancock North Central trounced Bay High 43-27 at Hancock.

Terrance Goff, who will be a junior next year and was one of last year's standouts at Hancock, scored the first three touchdowns but lost one to a penalty.

Goff and the rest of the Hawks' offensive backfield proved too much for the Bay High Tigers to handle. A young, inexperienced team, the Tigers showed a weak kicking game compounded by some costly errors.

Goff took the ball on Hancock's first punt return, fumbling and recovering his own before dashing 80 yards for the first touchdown shortly before the first quarter ended.

His second scoring touchdown was on a second quarter punt return and picked up 65 yards.

Hancock was leading 28-7 by halftime, having picked up two other first quarter touchdowns set up by Tiger fumbles. One was on a running play by Goff, but on the next one, Casey Davis hit Tirus Jackson in the endzone on a pass play.

The only scoring by Bay High in the first half was on a pass by Charlie Mitchell to Willie Moody, which grabbed up 77 yards for the Tigers, but the same combination paid off again later in the game.

In second half action, Jackson went out on a 15-yard sweep to bring the score to 36-7 for the Hawks.

Hancock North Central fumbled to provide the Tigers an opportunity for another successful Mitchell-to-Moody touchdown pass.

However, the Hawks responded with a scoring drive that set up a three-year touchdown plunge by Chad Favre.

Mitchell successfully connected with Kevin Dorsey to score for the Tigers late in the game, then dropped his aerial tactics in favor of ground action to score again on a short keeper, posting a final score of 43-27.

Despite a bad field and a losing score, Bay High gained 347 yards to Hancock's 157. However, successful Mitchell-to-Moody touchdown pass.

Kowalski, Duncan help lead Coke Express to state title

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two local players will go to the Southern Regional Soccer Competition in Tulsa, Okla., June 14-15.

Shane Kowalski of Bay St. Louis and Joel Duncan of Pearl River are members of Coke Express, which won the Boys Under-19 State competition this past weekend.

On Saturday, Coke Express defeated Vicksburg Cannon 2-1 and Pascagoula Blackhaws 2-1. The select team lost to Northeast Jackson, the host team, 3-1. On Sunday, then defeated the Clinton Trojans

1-0 in a double-header.

Head Coach Tom Stovall said Kowalski and Duncan were both instrumental in the wins. Kowalski contributed two goals while Duncan scored one.

Winning the state title capped off a 23-6-1 season for the team.

Mississippi Special Olympics to be held in Biloxi June 2-4

The 1989 Mississippi Special Olympics State Summer Games will be June 2-4 at the Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi.

Approximately 1,000 athletes from throughout the state will participate in seven official Special Olympics sports events.

Opening ceremonies are set for June 2 at 8 p.m. at the parade field on the base. The competition will be June 3 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the same location with closing ceremonies concluding the games. The public is invited to attend all events. Admission is free and concessions will be available.

Official sports competitions are aquatics, track and field athletics, gymnastics, canoeing, softball, bowling and tennis. During the weekend, other events for the athletes will include entertainment and Special Olympics sports clinics.

Anyone wishing to volunteer to work the day of the games should contact Matthew Dolan of the Games Volunteer Committee at 377-3662. Also, those interested may simply report to the volunteer tent at Keesler on the day of the competition.

Special Olympics is a sports program for individuals ages eight and older with mental retardation. Throughout the year, these special athletes train and compete in a variety of Olympic-type sports.

Through their participation, they are given the opportunity to display their talents, develop their self-esteem, make new friends and develop into productive citizens.

For more information concerning the games or participating athletes in your area, contact Melissa Weeks, Mississippi Special Olympics developmental director, at 264-7295 or Susan Bosco, public relations coordinator, at 868-4510.

Rhodes, most valuable defensive back; David LeGross, off-season award; Brian Favre, leadership award; Charlie Mitchell, most valuable offensive back; Scott LaFontaine, most improved defensive lineman.

Bassin' with the pros

If summer heat, heavy boat traffic and uncooperative fish have plagued you during recent weekend outings, consider changing tactics. Instead of fishing during the daylight hours, make your fishing trips at night.

That's the advice of Johnson Outboards Pro staff member Ricky Green, who explains, "The only real differences between day and night bass fishing are that it's dark and the fish bite better."

"Basically, night fishing is done in the same places as during the day," says Green. "The lures and the techniques for using them are also the same. If anything, the bass may even be more shallow than during the day, since there won't be any boat traffic and the bright sun is gone."

"I prefer to fish around the full moon each month," notes Green. "Generally, five or six days before and after it seems to bring the best results, although I've fished during all phases of the moon and caught bass."

During the late summer,

Green concentrates on main lake points, channel drops, brush piles and grasslines, rather than fishing creeks or the backs of coves. His primary depth range is between five and about 18 feet.

"My favorite night lure is probably a spinnerbait," he explains, "and I try to fish it very slowly along the contour of the bottom, just bumping it along."

"I fish a spinnerbait with a single big Size 6 or 8 blade so I get a lot of vibration, and I work it very slowly. Other anglers don't fish as deep and many prefer to fish faster, but a deeper, slower retrieve seems to catch larger bass more consistently."

Another lure Green suggests for night fishing is the plastic worm, although like his spinnerbait, it's larger than normal. His favorite size is a 12-inch worm, rigged with a 3/8-ounce slip sinker and with the hook imbedded to make it weedless.

"The big worm is something a little different," says Green, "I don't think the bass have seen very many worms that size, and from the results I've had with it, I think they like it."

Green works the big worm slower than normal, keeping it around brush and cover longer than he would a smaller lure. He jiggles and shakes it, crawls it around, and hops it in and out of the cover before he reels it back.

SSC golf team finishes fourth in district play

In golf, the Rock-a-Chaws finished fourth in the district, led by eighth grader Bo Miller who qualified for the state tournament by shooting a 75 in the district tournament.

At the state tournament held at Hinds Junior College on May 11 and 12, Miller placed eighth in the state among all golfers in District 4A. Miller shot a second-round 72 for a 155 first-round total. This total barely missed Miller's qualifying for the All-State team by four strokes.

For his efforts Bo Miller was voted 'Mr. Rock-A-Chaw' by his teammates in recognition of his outstanding accomplishments on the golf course. This is the second straight year he has won this honor.

HANCOCK COUNTY HEART ASSOCIATION 1989 Golf Festival Chairman Stephen Planchard congratulates Elaine Reese of Pass Christian for her hole-in-one on the number four hole of Diamondhead's Cardinal Course during the recent festival. Reese said she was particularly excited about the hole-in-one because the tournament was her first.

Local cyclists, runners top HMC race divisions

BY DENA BISNETTE

Several local runners took division titles Saturday in Hancock Medical Center's seventh annual Feelin' Good Run/Bike/Walk, while six members of a locally-sponsored bicycle club took the honors in a 10-mile bike race.

The first male runner across the finish line in the one-mile run was Chris Welch, who completed the race in 7:35. Lauren Crappen took the women's honors with a time of 9:19.

Winter Trapolin, 76, of Pass Christian, received a special honor as the oldest runner in the race, an award he has taken in previous years. He also won the men's 60-and-over division in the 5K run in 31:27.

Five-year-old Emily Bethea of Gulfport was the youngest runner. She won the women's 12-and-under division in the 5K with a time of 30:57.

Topping the field in the 10-mile bike race were six members of the Cycles Plus Bicycle Club. The top three in the men's division included Steven Panela, New Orleans; Vance Young, Pearlman; and Lance Lacour, Diamondhead.

Winners in the women's division were Karen Sawyer, Pass Christian; Charlotte Dahl, Pass Christian; and Tanya Jones, New Orleans.

In the 5K, which was hosted along with the one-mile run by Gulf Coast Running Club, overall men's winner was Byron Benoit of Keesler Air Force Base, finishing the race 16:55. The female overall winner was Nancy Riggs of Long Beach, with a time of 22:41.

The top runners in each division

'Mind Over Matter' 5K run is Saturday

The fourth annual Gulf Coast 'Mind Over Matter' 5K Run will take place Saturday, May 27. The run will begin at 8 a.m. at the Counseling Center located in Building G in the Petit Bois Specialty Center (across from the French Riviera Spa) in Biloxi, just off Edgewater Gulf Drive.

The new improved course will consist of paved streets in the Edgewater/Petit Bois area and the paved area of Edgewater Mall.

Unique brass crab trophies will go to the first overall male and female masters, first male and female grandmasters as well as the top three male and female winners in 10 divisions.

All pre-registered runners will receive a free T-shirt, designed by local artist Howard Baldrige the day of the race.

All participants in the one-mile fun run/walk will receive ribbons and special awards will go to the first overall male and female winners and first place male and female winners in seven divisions. Registration fee is $10 and fun run/walk registration is $5.

All competitors are invited to a complimentary pre-race social and pizza supper held at the Biloxi Beach Hotel Friday, May 26 beginning at 7 p.m. Course maps will be available the day of the race.

Call the counseling center at 388-7998 for more information. This year's run is co-sponsored by the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, CPC Sand Hill Hospital, Gulf Oaks Hospital and Clinic and The Applied Psychology Center.

PRCC offers boys' basketball camp

There will be a basketball camp for boys in grades 6-12 at Pearl River Community College June 19-23. Registration will be from 8 to 9 a.m. on June 19.

Cost of the camp, which will feature guest speakers, instruction by area coaches and scrimmage games, is $100 for full-time campers and $75 for day campers.

The fee will cover insurance, awards and t-shirts. The full-time camper fee will also include housing and meals. Day campers will receive one meal per day.

For more information call PRC basketball coach Pete Georgian at 795-6801, ext. 375.

sion in the 5K, in addition to Bethea and Trapolin, are listed in order of finish with their times.

The women's divisions included 25-29, Tricia Parker, Ocean Springs, 24:16; Vicki Bruce, Ocean Springs, 30:13; and Jessica Alford, Gautier, 30:46; 30-34 Karen Barland, Biloxi, 25:51; Donna Slater, Ocean Springs, 29:30; and Julie Horton, Memphis, Tenn., 29:52; 35-39, Karen Sawyer, Pass Christian, 23:24; 40-49, Pat LeFave, Bay St. Louis, 37:07; and Beverly Bruce, Jacksonville, Fla., 39:21; and 50-over, JoAnn Mumme, Waveland, 34:25.

The men's divisions included 12-and-under, Joshua Thibodeaux, Long Beach, 29:23; 19-24, Dewey Callicott, Biloxi, 21:33; Carl Scholes, Keesler,

CLUBS

Gulf Coast Sportsman's Club

Sammy Perniciaro, vice president of the Gulf Coast Sportsman's Club, reported that the club's first saltwater tournament of the year ended Sunday with the weigh-in at Bordage's Marina.

Doug Necaise won the largest fish category with a 125-pound stingray. Necaise also had a 1 1/4-pound flounder that held up for first place in that division.

Bill "Bo" Jordan won first place in the speckled trout class with a 2 5/8-pound fish, barely nosing out Danny White at 2 1/2 pounds. Shorty Karl's 26 3/4-pound redfish took first place in its category, with Roger Jordan's 5 9/16-pound red holding up for second. Karl said he caught his red on a green sparkle beetle fished under a popping cork.

Perniciaro also reported that the GCSC will hold its annual Children's Fishing Rodeo on Saturday, July 29.

Barrett, Sawyer top time trials

Andy Barrett and Karen Sawyer came out on top in last week's Cycles Plus Bicycle Club five-mile time trial.

Barrett completed the trial in 11:37, the fastest time in the men's division, while Sawyer led the ladies with 14:38.

Additional times in the men's division included Lance LaCour, 13:11; David Sawyer, 13:35; David Brockway, 15:39; Bryan Carter, 17:30; and Dillon Lacoste, 24:37.

The other two participants in the women's division, Charlotte Dahl and Wendy Lacoste, finished in 15:28 and 18:34, respectively.

Public Notices

TRUSTEES NOTICE OF SALE

WHEREAS, on the 28th day of February, 1979, J.C. RUSSELL, executed a deed of Trust to Walter J. Phillips, Trustee, to secure an indebtedness therein described to Diamondhead Corporation, which deed of Trust is duly recorded in Deed Book 312 at Page 316 of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on file in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

WHEREAS, said deed of Trust and the indebtedness secured thereby was assumed by Louis W. Landau by Warranty Deed recorded in Book 4-A-45 at page 33 in the aforesaid land records; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of said indebtedness, and pursuant to the terms of said deed of Trust, the undersigned Trustee, Louis W. Landau, having requested the undersigned Trustee to foreclose on the herein described real property with improvements thereon for the purpose of paying said indebtedness and costs;

NOW, THEREFORE, I will on the 12th day of June, 1989, with the hours of 1:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., being legal hours for said sale, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the following described property situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

Lot 28, Block 8, Unit 7, DIAMONDHEAD, Phase 2, according to the map of said tract recorded in Plat Book 4, at pages 48-50, inclusive, in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, together with all and singular the rights, privileges, improvements and appurtenances to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining.

I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Trustee.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE on this 18th day of May, 1989.

WALTER J. PHILLIPS, TRUSTEE
5-18; 5-25; 6-1; 6-8-89

Arcement receives President's Award at St. Stanislaus

Chris Arcement, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Arcement of Pass Christian, received the President's Award, the highest honor given to a graduating senior at St. Stanislaus.

The award was one of several presented at the commencement exercises of the 135th graduating class of St. Stanislaus High School May 20 at Our Lady of the Gulf Church. Brother Paul Montero, principal, conferred the diplomas upon the 86 members of the graduating class.

The following members of the class of 1939 were recognized on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of their graduation from St. Stanislaus: Milton Bienvenu, Ed Carrere, Joe Colson, Elmore Gibbens, William Gilbert, Carroll Giraud, Joseph Glover, Cornelius Ladner, Curtis Peranich, James Ryan, Leon Shapley, Alvah Smith, James Strong and C. J. Taylor.

Michael Haas of Slidell, a St. Stanislaus graduate of 1914, was recognized in a special way for the 75th anniversary of his graduation. Haas is the oldest living alumnus of St. Stanislaus.

Brother Paul Montero presented awards to the following graduating seniors: Ben Schepens, valedictorian, excellence in mathematics and excellence in science; James Benigno, salutatorian; John Philip Sousa Band Award, Character Cup for a day student; Chris Arcement, excellence in English, The President's Award; Carl Bolian, excellence in social studies; Chad Martin, excellence in business; Alan Schott, Jeanne Simon Award.

Damian Everett, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Award; Richard Gleber, The Amerion Legion Award; George Kenney, Conduct Award for a resident student; Chad Mathews, Character Award for a resident student; Jeff Aycock, St. Stanislaus Alumni Association Award; Tom Adams and Craig Sweeney, Character Cup for a resident student.

A reception for the seniors and their guests was held on the school campus immediately following the graduation. The reception was sponsored by the parents of the junior class at St. Stanislaus with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Pontieux serving as chairmen.

Anna Dean to attend MUW Governor's School

Anna Marie Dean of Bay St. Louis has been selected to attend the 1989 session of the Mississippi Governor's School at Mississippi University for Women.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Dean Jr., she is a junior at Our Lady Academy where she is a member of the National Honor Society. She is also the recipient of a National Educational Development Test Award.

Miss Dean, a homecoming maid, is a member of the Princess Shoppe Teen Board. She is vice president of the Spanish Honor Society and is a member of Students Against Drunk Driving and the Drama Club. In addition, she is a varsity cheerleader. She is treasurer of the Crescent Athletic Club and vice president of the Medical Explorers. She has participated in the Quiz Bowl at her school.

The Governor's School will be held June 11-July 1. The theme of the 1989 session is "A Vision for Tomorrow: Looking Beyond the Year 2000."

This year, some 150 of the state's gifted and talented high school students have been invited to attend the residential honors program.

Established in 1981, the Mississippi Governor's School attracts high school sophomores and juniors to the Columbus campus each summer. It is designed to provide academic, creative and leadership experiences for gifted and talented students from throughout the state.

More than 1,200 students are graduates of the program, the only one of its kind in Mississippi.

Director of the three-week program is Dr. Guy Rose, head of the Division of Education and Home Economics and a professor of education at MUW.

Wharton inducted into Gamma Beta Phi

Deborah K. Wharton of Bay St. Louis was inducted into the University of Southern Mississippi Gamma Beta Phi honor and service society.

The 22-year-old daughter of Elaine and Richard Wharton is a senior chemistry major at USM. She is a 1985 graduate of Bay Senior High School.

Old air conditioner cooling too much?

Don't sweat out another long, hot summer with an outdated air conditioning system. Think of the discomfort your family must endure, by always being too hot or too cold. Then call your nearest Total Comfort Pledge® heat pump dealer for immediate relief.

Not only will an electric heat pump provide a cool, even temperature throughout your entire home, it'll also operate far more efficiently than your old air conditioner.

And you'll save in another important way, too: by replacing that dinosaur of a gas furnace you've been coping with all these years.

So, this year, make a cool move. Instead of cranking up the old air conditioner and praying it makes it through another season, bury both your dinosaurs at once. And improve your circulation year-round with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

The Electric Heat Pump.
Total comfort in one amazing box.

'Hats Off To Readers' summer program to begin June 2

Pre-registration for the 1989 Summer Reading Program of the Hancock County Library System is now being taken at all branches of the system until June 2. This year's theme is 'Hats Off To Readers,' and the program is scheduled to begin Tuesday, June 2.

To register, children must be school age and must be entering the first grade through the seventh grade to be eligible to participate in the program.

They may go to any one of the libraries and sign the reading contract after deciding how many books they will read during the six-week program. Parents are requested to accompany their children and assist them in setting their reading goal.

After the program begins, the children then attend the various activities scheduled at the library where they registered. Children must be registered in the program to attend the activities. Children may also register on opening day.

Opening day has been set for Tuesday, June 6 at the Kiln Library, on June 7 at the City-County Library and on June 8 at the Waveland Library. All activities and programs will begin at 10 a.m. at all three libraries, with the programs set for Tuesdays at the Kiln Library, Wednesdays at the City-County Library and Thursdays at the Waveland Library.

A schedule of activities may be picked up at any one of the libraries, and those participating in the program will receive bookmarks, reading records and certificates in recognition of their participation.

For more information contact the City-County Library at 467-5282, the Waveland Library at 467-9240, or the Kiln Library at 255-1724.

society sponsor; Molly Weems, secretary; Nathan Barber, vice-president; and Ellis Cuevas, scholarship fund committeeman. The photo was taken by Ginger Cagle, Honor Society treasurer.

MILITARY MENTION

PVT KERGOSIEN
Army Private Leonard W. Kergosien, with the 7th Infantry Division, Fort Ord, Calif., joined soldiers from the British, Canadian and Australian armies in the combined brigade-level field exercise, "Caltrop Force" at Fort Hunter-Liggett, Calif.

Ground, air and amphibious forces participated in order to develop and test standard operating procedures and areas of interoperability between armies.

The exercise was the first time in recent memory that the four nations have conducted a joint/combined field training exercise together.

Kergosien, an infantryman, is the son of Ames A. Kergosien and Rosalie W. Kergosien, both of Bay St. Louis.

The private is a 1988 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Bay St. Louis.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1989-5C

Smith to conduct Service Academies seminars

Congressman Larkin Smith will hold seminars in Hattiesburg and Biloxi on Saturday, May 27, to show junior and senior high students how they might pursue a free college education at the U.S. Service Academies.

Congressman Smith will explain the necessary qualifications and the procedures for applying to the academies. Representatives of the Air Force Academy, Coast Guard Academy, Merchant Marine Academy, Military Academy and Naval Academy will attend the seminars to explain the educational and career opportunities they offer.

Parents and students are invited to the seminars which are scheduled as follows: Hattiesburg—10 a.m.-noon, Cook Union Building, University of Southern Mississippi.

Biloxi—2:30-4:30 p.m., Mississippi Coast Coliseum, Banquet Room B.

IN BRIEF

Keesler's commissary will close May 30 due to the Memorial Day holiday. The store will also close June 4 for annual inventory.

Heavey named scholarship recipient

Lori Heavey of Bay St. Louis has been awarded a $250 Emma Box Williams Memorial Scholarship for the 1989-90 academic year at Mississippi University for Women.

The fall semester will begin Aug. 27 with the opening of residence halls. Registration will be Aug. 29-30 with classes beginning Aug. 31.

MUW will begin its 104th academic session this fall under the leadership of its new president, Dr. Clyda Stokes Rent.

Founded in 1884 as the nation's first state-supported institution of higher education for women, MUW today enrolls some 2,000 women and men who represent more than 70 counties in Mississippi and some 20 other states, from New York to Hawaii.

AWARD WINNER—Among award recipients at Pearl River Community College's awards day ceremonies is Barbara Crammer of Bay St. Louis who received the drafting and design technology award.

Dinamation to become extinct May 31

The Dinamation exhibit, sponsored by the Louisiana Nature and Science Center will close its doors for the final time on May 31. More than 110,000 people have already visited this educationally rich exhibit from 43 states, 37 foreign countries and all over the state of Louisiana.

Unlike traveling exhibits where the exhibit needs only to be set up, this exhibit was created by the Nature Center's very talented exhibit curator Bob Marye. The Dinosaurs are rented and arrive and depart on 18-wheeler trucks.

All of the interpretive material and hands-on activities are put together by the Nature Center staff. Each museum that displays the dinosaurs does so differently.

The Dinamation exhibit represents the rarest and most prized scientific discoveries in our time. Nesting colonies recently excavated in Montana provide evidence of nurturing and parental care by duckbill dinosaurs.

The Parasaurolophus diorama recreates a nesting area with a baby and eggs in the nest while the mother prods a reluctant juvenile out into the world on its own. The mother apatosaurus, formally known as brontosaurus, is shown craning her neck to watch over her young and the pachycephalosaurus has a large nest with several eggs at her feet.

First time PRCC students report for orientation

Orientation for all new students attending Pearl River Community College will be held Monday, June 5, at 8 a.m. in the academic building on the Poplarville campus.

All students who are enrolling at PRC for the first time should be present in order to receive instructions for advisement and registration.

After the orientation session, new students will meet with advisors and will register for the summer session. There is no fee for the session.

All academic students and technical students must take the ACT and vocational students must take the Test for Adult Basic Education. Those who have not done so should call the PRC Office of Guidance, Recruitment and Orientation at 795-6801 for additional information.

EVEN IT UP

ASK YOUR GROCER TO "EVEN UP" YOUR TOTAL TO THE NEXT DOLLAR FOR THE DINNER.

You can make a big difference in the war against hunger. Through WINN-DIXIE'S "Even It Up" program, you can help collect funds for perishable food items for needy families. Your customers will be "evening up" their grocery bills to the next dollar. Your participation in this important program will help us keep our commitment to fighting hunger in our community.
